MARION, CRITTENDEN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, MAY 27 1909

NUMBER 52

VISIT TO KENTUCKY STATE NORMAL.

Crittenden County is Represented by Eight Wide-a-Wake Young People and All Are Doing Extra Well.

STATE NORMAL MEANS MUCH TO THE FUTURE OF KENTUCKY.

The Educational Conference held at Bowling Green May fifth to seventh was one long to be remembered by all who attended. The interest and enthusiasm manifested by the faculty and student-body of the above school was a revelation to any one who has not been in actual contact with the work of this institution. At the chapel exercises on Wednesday morning a student representative from each of the fifty-nine counties in the Western District gave the visitors greetings from the student-teachers of his county. These speeches were brief and to the point, and showed that the student-body is fully awake to the needs of our boys and girls.

Crittenden County is represented by eight wide-a-wake young people. They are Misses Bertha Moore, Myrtle Todd and Mary Guess; Messrs. Lonnie Moore, Fred Stone, Louis Matthews, Hollis Todd and J. R. Travis. They are all doing fine work and are delighted with the school. We bespeak for these young people the consideration of those who are entrusted with the hiring of teachers for the coming year. The teacher who is willing to spend his meager salary during vacation trying to increase his effectiveness and value as a teacher, should have the best school that can be given him.

We visited the new site selected by the Board of Regents, and we are compelled to say that the location is ideal. Mr. Geo. Kessler & Co., of Kansas City Missouri have employed as landscape architects for the new campus. Mr. Kessler was entirely responsible for the beautiful landscape and architectural effects at the St. Louis World's Fair and will make the State Normal buildings and grounds a thing of beauty and joy forever to Western Kentucky. When his plans have been carried out and the new buildings are in place, Kentucky will have a Normal School that, so far as buildings and grounds are concerned, will not have an equal any where else in the country.

And it is not in beauty of situation and architecture alone that our Normal Schools will excel; for Pres. Cherry, who by the way is one of the greatest executives any school ever had, is gathering about him a corps of instructors such as few schools have. One of these, Dr. A. J. Kinnaman, who delivered the address at the High Commencement held in Marion, May 21.

The two State Normal Schools mean much for the future of Kentucky, for their influence will be felt ere many years in the most remote district school in Kentucky, and they are bound to be a great power in the educational uplift which is coming and is now well on the way.

A year ago considerable dissatisfaction was manifest in various counties on account of the radical changes proposed by the new school law enacted by our last legislature. Wednesday and Thursday afternoons were devoted to reports of the forty-five superintendents in regard to this new school law. These reports show that, for the most part, opposition has given way to hearty co-operation where the people have become acquainted with the provisions of this law. The new law is gaining friends daily and those who think that it will be repealed by the next General Assembly will find themselves very much mistaken, for when the people who live in the country districts once learn how much this law means to them and to their children, they will be a unit in its favor. It will be amended in some minor particulars, but we may rest assured that as regards the main provisions, the new law has come to stay.

In one county of this State, a candidate for renomination to the legislature dared to make a fight on the grounds of opposition to the school law. He was overwhelmingly defeated in the primary election. This should be the fate of every one who dares to try to make political capital out of an institution so sacred as the public schools.

In a few counties the peanut politicians composing the fiscal court have refused to make the levy recommended by the Board of Education. Presuming in their ignorance of the needs of the schools, to place their petty political ambitions above the interests of the boys and girls in the country districts. Defying the plain provision of the law which says the County Board shall estimate the amount of tax required to carry out the provisions of the law and that the Fiscal Court SHALL make the levy asked by the County Board.

JOHN P. KING.

"ROUSMENTS" AT THE TENT LAST NIGHT.

In the language of the old darkie preacher, Mr. Ferguson says, "We sho put on de rousments" last night. A large congregation was present and responded heartily to the song service that preceded the sermon. Mr. Ferguson preached on the sanctification and showed from a bible standpoint that Christians and not sinners are eligible for sanctification and that it is subsequent to regeneration. He certainly made the people believe it was a bible doctrine for at the close of the sermon the people rushed to the altar and prayed twenty professing the experience.

Mr. Yates sang the popular song "You Can Shine." By special request, he has sang this song over many times. An all night prayer meeting was held in which about thirty persons prayed nearly all night, some getting through at 2:30 a. m. Mr. Yates went to Jacksonville this morning on business but will return this afternoon in time for the service tonight. The climax of all is expected tonight and tomorrow night when they will close.—Waycross Georgia Evening Herald, May 18th.

AMUSEMENT RESORT TO OPEN JUNE SEVENTH

The Crittenden Springs Amusement Resort will open for business June 7th, under the management of John L. Harpending & Co.

Mr. Harpending has had the hotel and grounds thoroughly cleaned and the hotel will be conducted as an amusement resort. Dancing every Wednesday and Saturday night, and moving pictures every Sunday evening. The management will serve lunches and refreshments of all kinds and will place tables and chairs over the lawn and will serve lunches, ice cream, and refreshments on Sunday. In addition to the above there will be tennis courts, pool and billiard tables for the pleasure of their patrons.

While the hotel will be conducted, as an amusement resort, the company has had a limited number of rooms nicely prepared for the accommodation of their guests. Special attention given to private parties.

The Crittenden Spring Hotel is situated five miles west of Marion in the heart of the Southwestern lead, zinc and flint spar district. Several good mines in whistling distance and the best are yet to be found. Good fishing and frog hunting in numerous streams nearby and the waters of the famous Sulphur Springs are too well known further mention.

So the management invites you to come out, bring your prospecting pick fishing tackle, gun and etc., and spend a day with them amidst the forest, and add smiles to your face.

MEETING OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Resolutions--The Books Will Close July the First--All Pooling Papers Must be Turned in by July Fifth.

REPORTS SHOW THAT POOLING IN WEBSTER COUNTY IS PRACTICALLY SOLID.

The Executive Committee of the Stemming District Tobacco Association is in session at this writing, Monday night, May 24th. The Executive Committee is constituted as follows, five in number, namely:—F. F. Brown, of Hopkins, Chairman; I. N. Baker, of Webster; W. B. Rankin, of Crittenden; J. G. Orsburn, of Union; and J. Stokes Taylor, Henderson.

All were present, save only Committeeman Brown, of Hopkins, who is accounted for by sickness.

Momentous matters, one especially, namely, the taking of other counties, all of weighty import to the future of the Association, will come up for the consideration of the committee.

Secretary Thompson at this—ten o'clock Monday night—has just handed me the following resolutions passed by the committee now in session: On motion of J. G. Orsburn, seconded by I. N. Baker, he it resolved that no pooling papers be accepted with any provisions or conditions attached, and the district secretary is hereby instructed not to pay any pooling claims unless the pooling papers for which payment is made be turned in at time of payment. And,

On motion of W. B. Rankin, seconded by I. N. Baker, Resolved, That the books be closed on the 1909 crop on the first day of July and all pooling papers be turned in to the secretary by July fifth, and the district secretary is hereby instructed to receive no pooling papers after that date. Carried unanimously.

On motion of J. G. Orsburn, seconded by J. Stokes Taylor, Resolved, that inasmuch as the Association's contracts expire with the different buyers on June fourth, all members be requested to get the remnants of crops in to purchasers by June fourth.

THE POOLING:—

From Committeeman Baker I learn the pooling in Webster county will be quite as satisfactory as was the pooling last year—which is to say it will be practically solid. And the prospects are equally good in Union, Crittenden county will, from present prospects, pool up in the most satisfactory manner. Hopkins county was a little backward in starting, but from Hon. C. C. Givens I gather encouraging reports. The canvassing for pledges in Henderson county is under full headway and reports from canvassers are most encouraging. By the first of June the great bulk of the crop all over the district should be in the Association.—JAMES N. BANKS.

ECLIPSED ALL FORMER PERFORMANCES-- MARION GRADED AND HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT MARKED BY BRILLIANT ACHIEVEMENTS

All last week and in fact for days before, all Marion's best citizens have been on the qui vive in the anticipation of pleasure usually attendant on the closing days of the scholastic year of the Marion Graded and High School which exercises were begun Thursday night with a reception at the residence of Prof. J. P. King to the graduating classes and some of their friends.

Friday evening at the auditorium the High School graduates were given an enthusiastic reception by a crowded house. The class roll embraced the following young ladies:—BEULAH CONYER, FREDDA MAE PICKENS, NANNIE MARGARET ROCHESTER, RUTH CARLYLE COOK and MARCIA MARIE KING, the latter being the valedictorian and the speaker of the class.

They were ranged in a semi circle with Prof. J. P. King and Dr. A. J. Kinnaman, the speaker of the evening.

The class colors, old gold and black were festooned about, and the motto engraved on the banner hung in the rear of the stage, "Age quod age."

The following program was carried out nicely:—Music by the Marion Orchestra; Invocation—Rev. R. C. Love; Music—Orchestra; Motion Song—Pupils from First Grade; Valedictory—Marcia M. King; Music—Orchestra; Address: "The Needs of Better Education"—Dr. A. J. Kinnaman; Music—Orchestra; Presentation of Diplomas; Music—Orchestra; Benediction—R. C. Love.

The audience was probably the largest which ever assembled in the auditorium and was quite appreciative.

The orchestra was composed of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Tucker, Jas. L. Travis and Guy Lamb and certainly delighted the music lovers.

The motion song by the first grade pupils was well rendered. Those taking part were:—Hubert Crider, Jack Adams, George Clark, John Flanary, Harry Moore, Ethel Drury, Vera Eskew, Fanny Moore, Robbie Fowler, David Orene Champion and Roxie Taylor.

The Valedictorian, Miss Marcia Maria King, received hearty applause and many flowers which proved how well she delighted her hearers, and seldom have Marion's school advocates been so fortunate as to have so unique and interesting a speaker as Dr. Kinnaman to stand before them. He is one of the faculty of the State Normal at Bowling Green and is an educator of rare ability and national reputation. Throughout his address, of more than an hour's length he held the closest attention, and entertained the audience, and after the program was finished he received his share, along with the graduates and the orchestra, of the congratulations.

Saturday evening the program of the eighth grade commencement exercises also held at the school auditorium was as follows:—Music—Orchestra; Invocation—Rev. M. E. Miller; Music—Orchestra; Evangeline, by the Longfellow Club, Miss Postlethwaite, presiding. Description of Grand Pre, Mary Gilbert; Evangeline and Her Home, Raymond Minner; The Visit of Basil and Gabriel, Clarence Mays; The Marriage Contract, Grace Hill; Imprisonment of the Academics, William Rochester; Evangeline's Lonely Vigil, Tress Koon; Preparations for Embarking, Ruth Melton; The Burning of Grand Pre, Lucian Walker, Music Orchestra; Evangeline Begins Her Search for Gabriel, Lillie Guess; Gabriel Passes Evangeline, Robert Hamaker; The Discovery of Basil, Monte Stanley; Basil and Evangeline See Gabriel, Basil Boston; The Search Renewed, Douglas Carnahan; The Visit to the Thunder City, Ruth Croft; Evangeline Finds Gabriel, Mamie Haynes; Music—Orchestra; Presentation of Diplomas; Benediction—Rev. A. J. Thompson. Wm. Rochester was absent on account of sickness and his part was read by Miss Postlethwaite.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Liberty Lodge No. 580 F. and A. M.

Frances, Ky., May 17, '09.—The Grand Master of the Universe has called another of the faithful craft from labor to eternal refreshment. On May 6, the Angel of Death summoned home the beautiful spirit of our beloved brother, C. O. Pogue, and solemnly do we mourn the loss. He was an upright Christian, a devout Mason and a faithful laborer in his Master's cause. Be it therefore resolved:

First, That in the death of our Brother the Lodge has lost a worthy brother, the community a good citizen, the church a faithful member and the family a loving, faithful relative, father and companion.

Second, That we tender our heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved family; that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records and that acopy be furnished the Crittenden Record-Press, and a copy be sent to the family and that this lodge wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Night Riders Busy.

Night Riders scraped the plant bed of Chas. Wring in Crittenden last Monday night. Mr. Wring sent to Sturgis for the blood hounds.

Frank Morris, colored, who works for Attorney C. H. Wilson about his place and who goes up now and then and works a day or two at a time on Mr. Wilson's farm about five miles above Smithland, received a letter telling him to quit coming to the country or death would be his portion.

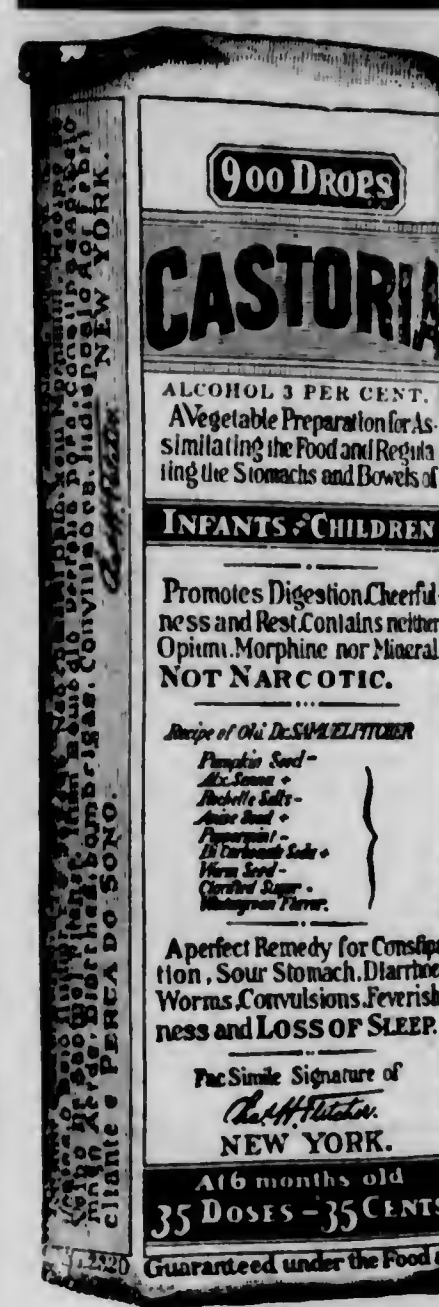

Mr. Owen Boaz and wife, of Dycusburg, went down to Paducah last Saturday and returned Saturday evening on the same boat and stopped over here and stayed over night with Mrs. Boaz's sister, Mrs. Fred Hardy, on Court street and went home Sunday.

EVIDENTLY FROM MISSOURI.

Bernard, aged three years, was given two very nice puppies by his father. The next day at a playmate's home two children tried to teach him to sing. "Where, O Where, Has My Little Dog Gone?" He refused to repeat the words, saying, "Wait a minute." He ran home, returning with the puppies in his arms, and said, "I knowed all ze time where they was."—The Delinquent for June.

day night the home of her father was wrecked by a storm and all the inmates, except Mamie, were buried in the ruins. She procured an axe and, guided by the groans of the victims, proceeded to cut them out of the debris.

Her mother died before she could be released, but the girl rescued her baby brother alive and unhurt.

Her father was caught under the heavy timbers and his left arm was mangled. The girl cut all the timbers save those holding the crushed arm.

The father knew that his arm would have to be amputated at the elbow, and at his command the girl brought the axe down on the mangled place, thus releasing Mr. Price. Then, aided by her father, she made a rude tourniquet that stopped the loss of blood while she went to get help from neighbors.

Caldwell Sells Out.

The Association tobacco in the southeastern section of Caldwell county has been sold to W. G. Head & Co., which cleans up the entire 1908 crop in that county. It is to be delivered in Princeton and paid for on delivery.

A Rich Error.

"Printers' errors are always funny," said Gen. P. P. Parker, of the Arizona G. A. R., "and I'll never forget one that was made over a Decoration day sermon some years ago in Phoenix."

"The Monday morning report of this sermon began: 'The Rev. Dr. John Blank preached the pulpit on the occasion,' and so on."

"Graced," of course, is what was meant."

MEMORIAL.

The Northern Blue—The Southern Gray.

[BY DAMON HARVEY.]

Wherever comrades may repose, free from the bugle's call, As heroes, they in memory live, torn, sear'd by steel and ball;

There let us meet and mingle tears in unison to-day,

And scatter floral wreaths, alike, upon the blue and gray.

The few remaining "Vets," with pride and trembling, tottering tread

All join to decorate the graves of our heroic dead.

The breach of peace that once prevailed, from age, has died away, The tears of love are shed the same upon the blue and gray.

With din of battle on their ear, the scenes of war in mind, Our brave defenders, aged, gray, are dropping out of line.

E're long the "taps," will call the last true Soldier Boy away,

Who may have worn the Northern blue—perhaps the Southern gray.

No slab of granite mark the spot where warriors rest;

No loving hands with garlands fair to lay upon their breast;

But yet the stars that guard each mound of consecrated clay,

Smile down with equal rays of love on both the blue and gray.

They laid their guns and swords aside with many a manly shout;

From earthly service, one by one, were gently mustered out.

And as the flowers of May adorn their silent graves to-day,

Our Nation clasps the hands of peace o'er both the blue and gray.

Roosevelt Continues to Knock Down Big Game.

Nairobi, British East Africa, May 12.—Theodore Roosevelt's hunting luck continues. The former President, on his last expedition, shot a leopard and captured the animal's two cubs. A bugalo and two giraffes also have been captured by the expedition. The party is still in camp near Machakos. No further cases of smallpox have developed among the porters.

An Indigestion Remedy Free

Many people who are otherwise healthy suffer from indigestion, or dyspepsia. When you consider that the stomach and allied digestive organs are the most important organs of the body, it would seem that a disorder there is to be taken very seriously.

Dyspepsia cannot eat the things they like; food sours in the stomach; then chronic constipation begins, or, as is often the case, you have been constipated all along, and the stools are forced and irregular.

But there is no use letting indigestion go until it becomes chronic and undermines your health. It is good advice to suggest to you that you go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the wonderful cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles. That is what C. Fowler, of Carson City, Mich., did and he is well today. Others who did the same and are cured are Ida A. Fortune, of Grand Junction, Tenn.; B. F. Thompson, of Shenandoah, Ia., who actually considers that it saved his life. You can obtain a 50-cent or $1 bottle of the druggist, and, taken according to directions, it will probably be all you need. It is a liquid, acts gently, never gripes, and besides the laxative effect, contains exceptional tonic properties which tone the stomach, and that is what is especially needed in indigestion.

All sufferers from indigestion who have never used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can obtain a free test bottle by writing the doctor. It will be sent direct to your home without any charge. In this way thousands have proven to their own satisfaction Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the very remedy they needed to cure indigestion. When once you use this grand remedy you will throw violent cathartics, tablets, salts, etc., away.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 550 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Volume 30--Number 52--Do you know what that means? It is the simple announcement of the close of another year's work for the paper which next week will launch out into the 31st year of its existence with Vol. 31. No 1 Marion has seen many changes, many lights and many shadows since 1879 when the "PRESS" was born. Men have come and men have gone, some business ventures have succeeded some failed, many have seen the first light of day and ah! how many have crossed the dark river in these thirty years, but during all the time the CRITTENDEN RECORD-PRESS and later the CRITTENDEN RECORD-PRESS has striven onward and upward and has attained the widest distribution and circulation known to any weekly county paper in the state and has never failed to appear on time except one week--that following the disastrous fire of March 28th, 1905, and after that fire, without aid from any source a plant was installed as complete and perfect as few county papers had and this we keep up by constant additions and improvements as the requirements of the business demand it.

PREFERS TO REMAIN ON THE BENCH.

Louisville, Ky., May 26.--Reports come to Louisville that, notwithstanding the efforts of certain Western Kentucky politicians to bring about the defeat of Judge Thomas J. Nunn, there is little chance for the fight of the anti-Nunn men to be successful.

Judge Nunn's friends claim that he is distinctly a man of the people, and that the large mass of the voters of the First Appellate district are for him. Judge Nunn is not only popular at home, but there is not a county in the State where his candidacy for any office would not receive strong support. It was due to his popularity that many Democrats have suggested him as the strongest man to make the race for the nomination for Governor but it is understood that Judge Nunn himself prefers his duties on the bench to those of any other office and he wants to succeed himself. At this time there appears to be little doubt of his re-nomination, and his nomination is equivalent to an election.--Kentucky State Journal.

While it is true that all Kentucky wants to honor Crittenden county's stalwart member of her highest court, who is recognized by all the people, regardless of party affiliation, as the very embodiment of honor and integrity--the equal of any member of the Appellate court--it is also true he can't fill all the places of honor, which might be thrust at him and as stated in above dispatch, which is no doubt true, he prefers to devote his time and talents to the judicial department of the state government, and that's where we want him. His level head, his cool calculating judgement, his known fairness between man and man, his christian character, his model home-life and last but not least his eminent ability, make of him, an ideal Judge, and a character any boy might wish to emulate and one whom Crittenden county will always delight to honor for he's an exception to the old adage which says "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country." Marion loves Judge Nunn as a brother and only wishes to know what he wants that it may be granted.

The people of the counties in western Kentucky where fluor spar is plentiful are watching with much interest the action of congress in the hope that a stiff duty may be placed on fluor spar imported into this country. They say that if this is done it will result in an immediate rise in that product and that the many deserted mines will take on new life and the business will thrive as it did a few years ago. At one time, not so very long ago, these counties enjoyed a boom when fluor spar, lead and zinc were being mined. Big mills were erected for crushing the spar and separating it from the lead and zinc. Property values took a jump and everything was a-hum with activity and everybody was prosperous. Then the foreign countries began importing spar. They mined it in vast quantities and ocean vessels would transport it for almost nothing, frequently taking it aboard to be used as ballast, with no duty to pay. On top of all this they flooded the market and prices dropped accordingly and much of the life and energy of the business departed. Those interested are praying that Senator Bradley's amendment calling for a duty of $3 per ton duty on fluor spar may become a law, and say that if it does it means the old-time activity in the Kentucky spar fields.

Former United States Senator W. J. Deboe returned Saturday from Mexico, where he located, personally inspected and purchased a gold mine, which he believes will prove a bonanza. It is located 500 miles south of the city of Mexico and is forty miles from Ajaccio, the nearest railroad station. In company with four other capitalists, two mining experts and several Indian guides, the trip was made. Senator Deboe had been absent a month. The new company just organized is known as the "Cajon Gold Mining Co.," and Senator Deboe is president of it. His friends here hope "there's millions in it" for him and think he will make an ideal millionaire. The state of Ajaccio is to assist in building a new automobile roadway from the railroad to the mine, and it is the purpose of the owners immediately to build a plant to reduce the ore to bullion on the ground. The experts who went there declare, we are informed, that there are millions of tons of pay dirt in sight.

The senate finance committee has accepted Senator Bradley's amendment for a $3.00-per-ton duty on fluor spar, that is, the senate committee now recommends to the senate that a duty of $3.00 per ton be placed on fluor spar, instead of $1.50 per ton, as proposed in the original bill as reported by the finance committee through the senate. The probability is the senate will accept the recommendation of its finance committee, as is the custom in such cases, and the bill as finally passed by the senate will provide for a $3-per ton duty on fluor spar. Then it will be necessary to reconcile the differences between the senate bill and the Payne bill as passed by the house. This is done by means of a conference committee composed of select members of the house and senate. This conference committee will go over the whole bill to adjust and reconcile the various points of difference. The result will probably be a new and compromise bill, which will then be reported to each house and no doubt be speedily adopted. The outlook at present is that the duty on fluor spar will be not less than $1.50 or more than $3.00 per ton.

PROMINENT COUPLE TO WED.

Invitations were issued yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Knight, of Spy Run, to the marriage of their daughter, Helen Cheney, and Dr. Allen Hamilton, son of Mrs. Phoebe A. Hamilton, which will take place on Saturday afternoon, May 29, at 5 o'clock in the presence of the two families. The bride is a young woman of great charm and culture and has spent much of the time since her graduation from Westminster in traveling through this country and Europe. Dr. Hamilton is foremost among the younger physicians and surgeons of the city. Dr. Hamilton's family has played an important part in the social, political and commercial life of Fort Wayne since pioneer days.--Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

Some two hundred of the citizens of this town and county signed a telegram to Senator Bradley expressing their appreciation of the efforts in securing the approval of the senate finance committee of his amendment providing for a $3-per-ton duty on fluor spar.

"Booster" Trip to be Made Annually.

Henderson, Ky., May 19, 1909.

Mr. Marshal Jenkins, Marion, Ky.

Dear Sir:--I am instructed by our Board of Directors to write you expressing their appreciation of the warm welcome given our "Boosters" by yourself and your citizens when in your city on the 12th inst.

At our last Board meeting we decided to make our Booster trip an annual affair, and it will be with pleasure that we will look forward to renewing each year an acquaintance so agreeably started on the 12th inst.

Our idea is that we people of the pennyrile ought to be better acquainted with each other, we ought to know what we have as well as what we want, and we realize that it will take a mutual understanding of all our conditions backed by co-operation with each other to attain most satisfactory results.

If our annual trip draws each of us closer together, and enables us to realize that the quickest way to build up our section is to depend on the merchants and manufacturers of the pennyrile, the Henderson Commercial Club will be more than satisfied with results accomplished.

Again thanking you for making our trip so pleasant by the hearty welcome accorded us, I am,

Yours very truly,

On last Thursday afternoon, from 5 to 6 o'clock, at the residence of Dr. F. W. Nunn, on west Depot street, Master Fredrick Bruce Nunn entertained a number of his little friends at a birthday party, it being his third birthday. His invited guests being of such tender years, the bus was sent to each home for them. The bus ride was one of the enjoyable features of the afternoon for the tiny guests.

The little ones were first entertained with a peanut hunt, into which they entered with happy, eager faces. Then came the doll-making, using clothes pins and crepe paper. The girls, of course, had better ideas of shaping these than the boys; but when it came to the horse-making, using potatoes and tooth picks, the boys knew best just where to place the head and tail. After the games were finished, the little ones were led to the dining room for refreshments. This room was beautifully and tastefully decorated with red roses and green vines, and these colors prevailed on the table. The centerpiece was a bank of red roses and green vines, the napkins were decorated with green, and red berries. Red and green candles were placed in groups of three at each corner of the table, and also in the center piece. These were lighted, but their brightness was not equal to that of the faces of the little ones gathered here. The table was set for twenty-seven, and, when the little ones gathered around this, they made a finishing touch to all the lovely decorations, a banquet of happy little hearts and faces surpassing the beauty of even the roses. After refreshments were served, the bus took them to their homes and they made merry in this until the last one.

was safe at home.

The following were present:—Evalyn Moore, Mary Elizabeth Doss, Roberta Moore, Clara Porter Carnahan, Lemah Nunn, Robert Gordon Clifton, James and Carrie Travis, Evalyn Roberts, Clara Margaret Orme, John William Blue, Paul and Rudell Metz, Hickman Mabel Sutherland, James and Martha Adams, Marie Taylor, Odell Conyer, Samuel Gugenheim, Hazel Love, Edwina Weldon, Thomas Cochran, Richard Hicklin and Robert Frazer.

Prof. King delightfully entertained the High school at his home Thursday evening, May 20th, 1909.

The house was beautifully decorated in the H. S. colors, purple and gold. Prof. King entertained his guests by reading a play which was greatly enjoyed by all who were present.

Delightful refreshments of punch, brick ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. King and daughter, Miss Marcia. All enjoyed and appreciated the generous hospitality of the host and his family.

CHAPTER XIX.

In Which We Attain 65° 17' South.

When morning arrived the Sea Queen was plunging through an angry sea, in the midst of a raging snow storm which effectually concealed all our immediate surroundings. With vivid remembrance of those vast ice fields lying off our starboard quarter, and the certainty that numerous bergs were drifting not far ahead, we were compelled to slow down our engines, feeling a way cautiously through the white fog. The ice-cakes buffeting our bows, and scraping along the sides, were a constant menace, requiring men to fend them off so as to keep rudder and screw uninjured; the mainsail had broken loose from its gaskets, and, frozen stiff as the heavy canvas was, proved difficult to secure; while the ice on our forward deck had accumulated to such a thickness as to be weighing us down by the head, and had to be chopped loose and flung overboard in great blocks.

It was not far from noon when the heavy snow-clouds broke and went scurrying away like a flock of birds, leaving the wide sweep of waters clear to our view, with a yellow sun hanging cold in the pale blue of the sky.

I hardly knew where we were, not feeling at all certain about the extent of our drift during the past 24 hours, and so hastily brought my instruments on deck and shot the sun, stepping into the chart house to figure out our position. The result sent a sudden thrill of exultation through me.

"We have attained the spot!" I exclaimed, as I glanced up, and saw her gazing in at me through the open door. "Now we will ascertain the truth of Tuttle's vision."

"The spot? Do you mean this is the point of sea we have been seeking?"

"Ay! and now, thank God! we can head the other way."

I sprang eagerly past her, clinging to a life-line so as to keep my feet on the deck, too thoroughly excited by my discovery to remain any longer in idleness.

"Johnson, run below, and call Mr. De Nova. Have him turn out at once."

I watched the fellow slide to the companion, and made my own way to the bridge, sweeping my glasses anxiously about the clearing horizon. Within a minute De Nova had joined me, his eyes still heavy from sleep.

"Mr. De Nova," I said, rapidly, my gloved hand sweeping a semicircle in front of me, "I have just taken an observation, and this is latitude 65° 17' south and longitude 110° 30' west. Send your sharpest-eyed lookout to the foretopmast yard with these glasses. Then call all hands."

He went down the bridge stairs as I spoke, and a moment later a young seaman named Symes was swiftly footing the ratlines, their coating of ice breaking under his tread and rattling on the deck below. The men swarmed out from the forecabin and up the main hatch, ranging themselves about the foot of the foremast, watching me eagerly, and occasionally peering up at Symes, now well above the cross-trees.

"Lads," I cried, bending over the rail of the bridge, and staring down into their upturned faces. "I've just figured out our position, and this is the spot we've been hunting after in these seas. I've sent Symes aloft to look out for Tuttle's island. If there's any land in sight, well and good; we'll have a try for looting the Donna Isabel of those Spanish pesos. But if not, then we'll call it a wild goose chase, and the Sea Queen points her nose north."

There was a faint, half-hearted attempt at a cheer, which ended in a muttering of oaths and a shuffling of feet on the icy planks. The glances of the fellows turned upward toward Symes, now securely posted on the foretopmast yard, the glasses to his eyes. One or two among them, including Anderson, clambered to the top of the forecabin where they could see ahead.

"How the hell," the latter yelled suddenly from that point of vantage,

"do we know this is the place, and that you ain't foolin' us just to get back?"

The crowd turned their eyes on me, and I heard a growl of approval. "Principally because I say so, Anderson. The chart, with our course picked on it day by day, is yonder in the chart-house. And my figures are there also for this day's reckoning."

"But we don't any of us know any thing about that!"

"True enough, but there happens to be one on board who can figure it out for you if you doubt my word. Lady Darlington can do it."

The rising medley of growling voices ceased almost instantly, and if I had felt any question as to what her ladyship would do it was immediately silenced. She slipped to the rail of the stairs, her hood thrown back, her hair blowing in the wind.

"I believe thoroughly in Mr. Stephens," she said, clearly, "but it is true that I know something of navigation."

"You doubt his state?" I said, "I'll figure it out for you."

"Now you hear that, lads," my brother called out sternly over the hubbub. "You'll believe this lady if her word is the same as mine. Now don't you growl."

I followed my hands for a half hour.

"What do you pick up, Symes?" His words came back in a thread of sound as he looked down upon us from his bobbing perch.

"Not very much, sir, except water. There's a hell of a big field of ice out yonder," pointing with one hand, the other gripping the spar, "but it's mostly flat, an' all glistenin' with snow. There's maybe a dozen bergs ahead an' off the port quarter, mostly medium size, but with the devil of a big fellow a point or so to the north."

"Any land?"

"Not a sign, sir, unless that's it I take for a big berg. The shadows look dark enough for rock."

"Ease her off two points, wheelman."

"Two points it is, sir."

We stood there, silent and motionless, waiting anxiously, the men ranged along the rail, with their eyes all turned forward. I rang for full speed, and the Sea Queen fairly leaped ahead through the icy smother, flinging clouds of white spray over the heedless figures. Within ten minutes we began to perceive the huge mass we were approaching from the deck, and never before had my eyes looked upon so gigantic and majestic a mountain of ice. It was one immense cliff towering into the upper air, being fully 300 feet high, and not less than 1,200 feet in length, with vast glittering planicles rising still farther into the sky, its entire front a sheer precipice, gleaming in cold blue, with hardly a darker shadow anywhere to yield relief to the eye. We rounded its eastern edge so closely one could have tossed a biscuit from the foremast against its smooth front, the swell of its motion tossing the daring yacht like an eggshell. Symes, clinging to his perch with the grip of a monkey, swung back and forth to the wild swaying of the spar. Suddenly he yelled down.

"There's wind comin' from the southwest, sir."

"Heavy?"

"Looks to be a stiff breeze, an' it's bringin' more snow."

"Lay down from aloft."

I sprang over to consult the binoculars, and then cast one swift, comprehending glance at the thickening gloom in the southwest. Beyond doubt the change had come.

"Give her two more points north, wheelman; keep her head north-east by north—steady so. Mr. De Nova, send another man up here to the wheel. All hands now; stow every thing; tall on to those gaskets lively, my lads; we're in for a blow, and a run for our lives."

To my amazement scarcely a man among them stirred, the eyes of the majority turning toward Anderson. Evidently there was an understanding between them; they intended to revolt and had chosen him their leader. He stood just in front of the forecabin, a lumping big figure in his heavy clothes, his coarse face and ugly jaw showing beneath a fur cap.

"What yer turnin' north for in such a hurry, Mr. Stephens?" he growled, hoarsely. "It's not by vote of the crew, an' we're the ones that's got they say of it on this voyage. We're keepin' along this line of latitude for a day or so anyhow. Tuttle might 'a' got his fingers tangled an' missed a few leagues. Anyhow, we want the lady to give us her reckoning first."

I felt the hot blood leap to my face, and my teeth clenched as I leaned over the rail gazing down at him.

"Lads," I said, striving to master myself. "I've put you exactly where I promised I would; I've shown you all that was here. You can see for yourselves what will happen if we hold on any longer. The wind has swept around; it is going to bring that whole pack of ice down on us. We've got to run for it, or be crushed. Now what I want to know is, are you with me, or with Bill Anderson?"

They held off muttering, yet casting uneasy glances over the rail. Anderson stamped angrily on the deck.

"Oh, to hell with yer fine words," he said, grinning. "What if the wind has changed a bit? Can't we beat off the foe under steam the same as we did before? We're sailormen, and not afraid of a rough sea. For one, I'm damned if I leave that gold to rot here without huntin' for it."

Words were clearly useless, and I ripped back my heavy coat, dragging off my gloves, all patience exhausted. "Come on, De Nova," I exclaimed, "you've got sense enough to realize what this means."

I was over the rail with a leap, fronting them on the deck. "Listen to my surprise the whole landed beside me, and without a word we were off at the hands in our front. It was a fierce outburst for a minute, yet only a man or two stood with Anderson, the suddenness of our assault taking all the fight out of most of them. I struck for Bill twice squarely in the face, driving him back against the steel railing to the forecabin deck; over there he fell sprawling, his head bumping the plank. The next instant I had De Nova's antagonists in the rear, and together we laid them out against the rail, and none too gently. The mate's scuffle had become ugly, and he would have leaped into the sea if I had not caught his arm.

"They've had enough," I said, breathing hard. "Go back on the bridge, De Nova. Now, lads, get busy. If one of you soldiers or talks back to me again, he'll go to his bunk for the rest of this voyage. But up, Anderson, and stop that growling. You fellows may as well keep that as last that I am commanding the Sea Queen, and that we are homeward bound."

Within the space of five minutes I had the whole gang at it, a preface shuffling crew on deck, yet carrying out my orders after a fashion, and sufficiently cowed to be obedient. At last I dispatched the starboard watch below, an' leaving De Nova in charge of the bridge, started back to the companion. To my surprise Lady Darlington, muffled to the eyes, still stood, half protected, in the open door of the chart-house.

"What in the world are you doing here in all this snow and blow?" I questioned.

"Waiting for you," she explained, her eyes glowing. "I could not go to the cabin until I knew you had really won. Is it true that we are homeward bound?"

"Yes," I answered, not altogether happy over her evident pleasure. "The Sea Queen has attained her farthest southing. Are you glad?"

"Glad!" Her gloved hands sought mine. "In all my life I was never happier."

These impulsive words, natural as they were, nevertheless hurt me, and perhaps my face exhibited it. Her eyes fell.

"You cannot know how much I have suffered on this voyage," she said, regretfully. "Only a woman could. My heart cries out for relief, but it is not because I wish to lose any friendship formed on board."

"Yet that is what being homeward bound must inevitably mean."

Her long lashes were uplifted, disclosing the depths of those gray eyes.

"Not with me, Mr. Stephens; I am not a woman to forget."

A Cough Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a regular cough medicine, a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. Good for easy coughs, hard coughs, desperate coughs. If your doctor endorses it for your case, take it. If not, don't take it. Never go contrary to his advice.

We publish our formulae. We banish alcohol from our medicines. We urge you to consult your doctor.

The dose of Ayer's Pills is small, only one at bedtime. As a rule, laxative doses are better than cathartic doses. For constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick-headaches, they cannot be excelled. Ask your doctor about this.

MONKEY FEAR LIONS.

Barnum and Bailey Man Says They Are Choke Meat for King of Beasts.

"When a monkey sleeps he picks out the highest perch he can find," says Keeper Patterson, of the Barnum & Bailey menagerie. "When the only home of the monkey was a forest he lived always in deadly fear of the lion, and a live monkey is the choicest kind of a meal for the king of beasts. Although the monkey is rather a wise boy, and born in him knows that in a zoo the lions are securely caged, the fear of the lion is born in him, and this accounts for his finding as high a perch as he can to sleep on."

"The Honess, when free from family cares, is prone to lie on its back, with her legs stretched up straight in the air and paws pendant. The lion stretches himself out flatly on its side with paws turned in and switches and throbs during its slumber like a dog, with their hands over their heads. Bears, which have no fear, sleep in any position. The same is true of wolves. Animals of a cunning or cowardly nature, however, are always on the alert, even when asleep."

"A sent sleeps like a human being. It stretches out at full length and enters dreamland on its back, stomach or side. Elephants sleep upright like a horse, and fitfully. They are keenly alert to the slightest noise."

Lived 152 Years.

Win. Parr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurluck, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." They're a godsend to weak, sickly run-down or old people. Try them, 50 cents at Jas H. Orme's and Hayne & Taylor's drug stores.

SHOWED HER BARE FOOT.

To Schultz to Prove She Was Not His Wife With Crooked Toes.

St. Louis, Mo., May 17.—George Schultz had to be shown the bare foot of a veiled lady he caused to be arrested with a man at 3119 Pine street this morning to be convinced she was not his wife. When she refused to lift her veil Schultz was sure the voice was his wife's. He also identified her by a vaccination scar on her arm. To make identification complete he had her bare her right foot, saying his wife's right foot was crooked. When the young woman showed every toe normal Schultz left her and later telephoned he found his wife home.

Kills To Stop The Fiend.

The worst foe for 12 years of John Deye, of Gladwin, Mich., was a running ulcer. He paid doctors over $400, without benefit. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve killed the ulcer and cured him. Cures Fever-Sores, Boils, Felons, Eczema, Salt Rheum. Infallible for Piles, Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Corns. 25c at Jas H. Orme's and Hayne & Taylor's drug stores.

DIDN'T CHOOSE HER LOT IN LIFE.

The twins were invited to a children's party, but Gladys, having had a digestive attack in the night, it was decreed that both must remain at home. To such solidarity of interests the remaining twin stoutly objected, and when her mother exclaimed in surprised displeasure, "Why, Ethel, do you want to go to that party and leave your dear little twin sister at home?" she replied with spirit, "Well, mamma, you know I never wanted to be a twin!" —The Delineator for June.

They tone and regulate stomach, liver and kidneys, purify the blood, strengthen the nerves; cure Constipation, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Jaundice, Headache, Chills and Malaria. Try them. 25c at Jas H. Orme's and Hayne & Taylor's drug stores.

A KEEN OBSERVER.

Ethel, aged three, had been to visit her cousins, two fun-loving and romping boys. She had climbed upon her father's knee and was telling him of her visit. "Papa, every night John and George say their prayers; they ask God to make them 'good boys,'" said she. "That is nice," said papa. Then thinking soberly for a few minutes, she said, "He ain't done it yet." —The Delineator for June.

EDITOR OF APPEAL TO REASON GUILTY.

Sent Through Mails Order of $5,000 for the Kidnaping of W. S. Taylor.

Port Scott, Kan., May 17.—Fred Warren, business manager of the Appeal to Reason, a Socialist publication, charged by the government with sending scurrilous and defamatory matter through the mails was found guilty by a jury in the federal court here. An appeal will be taken.

Warren was charged with sending an envelope through the mails on January 12, 1907, bearing the following inscription, printed in red ink:

"One thousand dollars reward for anyone who will kidnap ex-Governor Taylor, of Kentucky, and return him to Kentucky."

Thirty thousand of these envelopes were mailed, it was stated. Ex-Governor Taylor was one of the witnesses for the prosecution.

WHO TAUGHT HER CAUTION?

Isabel, aged four, was talking to an imaginary friend over the telephone, when her mother heard her say, "Wait a minute, Rocks, my brother is right here listening to all you say, and my mother is in the room, too; don't tell me about it now." —The Delineator for June.

HOW TO PLANT ROSES.

Invariably roses should be planted by themselves, for they thrive best unless allowed to absorb the entire nourishment of a rich soil. Indeed, many growers believe that certain varieties do best when living apart from even those nearest of kin, and make up their roseariums with many beds, each holding one kind of rose, or set the plants in rows with ample room left between for cultivation. June, however, is not the time to plan or build a rosearium which can be done successfully only in the spring or autumn. —The Delineator for June.

TER FFERING ONE YEAR

Letter From Kansas.

Atwood, Kan., May 18, 1909.
Mr. S. M. Jenkins, Marion, Ky.
DEAR SIR:—My subscription will expire, May 18th, 1909. Inclosed find money order for one dollar, for which please continue sending me the grand old RECORD-PRESS another year.
In your paper I get the news from old Kentucky where I spent fifty-six years of my life.

I noticed in the last paper I received, that Pat Darby, Elie Nichols and Jake Crider are mentioned for State Senator on the Republican ticket in Caldwell county district. I am well acquainted with all of these gentlemen and will say either of them will fill that office with honor and satisfaction.

Well Mr. Jenkins you should visit me in Kansas and see our broad acres of wheat, barley and corn. Crops are looking quite well now, but we are beginning to get dry, but there is some prospect of rain today.

Wishing you well, happy and prosperous, I remain your friend,
J. B. MOUSE,

A HELPING HAND.

is Gladly Extended by a Marion Citizen.

There are many enthusiastic citizens in Marion prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence, and will prove a "helping hand" to scores of readers. Read the following statement:

P. W. Thompson, mechanic, Salem St., Marion, Ky., says: "Kidney disease had reduced my health and strength so greatly that I did not expect to see a well day again. I suffered intensely from pains through my joints and my family physician diagnosed my case as kidney stones. He gave me some medicine to dissolve them, but the complaint gradually became worse. When almost in despair, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and after five or six days' use I began to void the secretions copiously and two kidney stones, nearly half an inch long, passed from me. After this the terrible pains began to subside and my health improved rapidly until I felt like myself again. I used eight boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills in all and I owe my present good health, in fact, my life, to their curative powers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Burks-Johnson.

Mr. William Burks and Mrs. Edna Johnson, of Caldwell county, were united in marriage last Wednesday evening. Rev. J. B. McNally, in a very brief impressive style, pronounced the ceremony that united them man and wife. They were married at the residence of the minister, near Starr.

Friends that were present extended the hand of congratulations wishing them much joy and prosperity.

Readers of the Crittenden Press should be interested in this. Relief from coughs, colds, croup, asthma, and bronchitis, can be had in five minutes simply by breathing the soothing, healing, balsamic odor of Hygiea over the sore and raw membrane.

It acts like magic. When you breathe Hygiea, it brings the air from Australian forests of pine and eucalyptus to your home, and the curative power is so pronounced that all diseases of the nose, throat and lungs are cured in inland Australia.

Hygiea (Goddess of High-society) is sold by Hygiea & Taylor under a gold seal guaranteeing to cure any of the above named diseases or symptoms, or money.

Hygiea cures all bronchitis, and I feel very sure that you for your valuable medicine. Lodwick Edwards, 1323 Madison Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

Starts Innovation to Avoid

The Rush And Noise.

Chicago, Ill., May 18.—A novel innovation has been installed on the Illinois Central railroad. Sleeping car passengers are no longer to be disturbed by calls for meals in the dining car. Under the new rule the passenger leaves a call if breakfast is desired, the same as is customary in hotels, and the sleeping car conductor will see they are awakened at the time named.

Two objects are represented in this innovation. The morning nap of passengers is not interfered with, and a rush to the dining car, causing inconvenience to all concerned is prevented.

The best known and the best pills made are Dr. Williams' Little Early Risers. They are so easy to take, gentle and so effective, sold by all Druggists.

GETS BACK AT OWENSHORO

A Henderson paper, in its account of a colored girl who leaped there against the well-established theory that the earth moves, takes occasion to rap its old enemy, Owensboro, as follows:

When asked by a reporter for an explanation of her peculiar doctrine that the earth does not move, but that it stands still, she stated that she had always believed her early teachings that the earth moved, but that for the past few years she has been living in Owensboro, and after four years in Owensboro had decided that the earth does stand still.

Shelbyville Sentinel: The Lincoln Institute incident in this county appears to be a very much advertised affair. The Sentinel regrets that opposition to its location in this county did not enter their protest before the options for the tract had been signed. A proper consideration of their reasons for opposing would have more weight. The job is an up hill one after papers are signed. As low, the grievances of these people should be weighed by President Frost and those in charge. The individuals who are protesting the worthy gentlemen and among the most representative of the county. It would be an easy matter to sift the facts from sentiment and a correct conclusion reached.

PETRIFIED "PENNIWINKLES."

Hawkesville Clarion: John Cahal, who is now mining at Sebree, Ky., was here last week, and exhibited a lot of curios in the way of a handful of petrified "penniwinkles," which he says were taken from the mines at Sebree at a depth of 180 feet. The peculiarity lies in the fact that these little articles had petrified as hard as any steel, and instead of showing the usual dull color many of them were as bright as newly-minted coins, being in that state when taken from the mine. It is believed that this color is attributable to a chemical condition of the ground in which they are found, or probably the action of the water on them in past ages.

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it. Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength. You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

REFUSED TO SCIENCE.

Owensboro Messenger: In the Kentucky mountains the Republicans have noticed primary and convention fronts to a nice science. One faction in a convention a few days ago even resorted to kidnapping a delegate who held the key to the situation, bodily bearing him away to another county. This has never been beaten in the fine art of political strategy.

JERSEY MEN AGREE.

Cynthiana Democrat: Stanley Milwood has bought four ear loads of Holstein cows in New York for dairy purposes at the Lexington Asylum, claiming that their milk is the best for crazy people. Toward conclusion the Jersey people will doubtless subscribe.

000

SURMISE NO DOUBT CORRECT.

Harrodsburg Herald: Henry Bohon, who celebrated his eightieth birthday about March 1st, but who has the activity of a man of forty, certainly has an eagle eye. On last Saturday he went out driving and espied a black bird on a limb forty yards away picked up his ivory-handled revolver that was on the seat beside him and at the first pop shot the bird's head off. A little further on he took a crack at another black-bird fifty yards away and broke its leg. He must have been a dandy with a pistol when he was about twenty.

000

PROVES OLD ADAGE.

Madisonville Hustler: A man in Christian county has discovered in his ankle a cannie needle 1 1/2 inches long which he thinks he swallowed over two years ago. This goes to prove that all things come to him who waits.

PRIZE SNAKE LIE.

Harrodsburg Herald: The only good thing that we have heard that he hail storm did was the killing of a huge snake at Sam Cole's, in this county. The snake was racing through the avenue toward the house but the hail pelted him so that he got angry and, coiling up in a pile.

was pounded to death.

WORST AND LAST.

Owensboro Messenger: Kentucky has had two Republican Governors—Bradley and Wilson. The latter will go down to posterity as the worst of the two. Also as the last.

METAPHOR LITTLE MIXED.

Shelbyville Sentinel: The country press is the bullwark of this nation. Long may it wave.

When Cleaning Out a Well.

Before going down into a well, test the purity of the air by lowering a lighted candle or lantern. If the light burns dimly or goes out, the poisonous carbonic acid gas "damps" can be driven out by igniting a quantity of turpentine and sawdust or kerosene and rags, in a kettle, and lowering it to the service of the water; and then, later, pour several bucketfuls of water into the well from the top. Test again with the lantern, and note the improvement. We want Our Folks to be on the safe side.—March Farm Journal.

THE CHILDREN LIKE IT
KENNEDY'S LAXATIVE
COUGH SYRUP

NOT EASILY OUTDONE.

The two children, a little boy four, and a little girl three years old, played together constantly. Both were quick and bright, but the boy would never let his sister get ahead of him. One day she called to him saying, "Oh, come look, did you ever see anything like 'Is bug'?" "Yes," he said, looking it over and meditating; "I think I saw its buzzer (brother) yesterday."—The Delineator for June.

This is the most dangerous time of the year to catch cold, and it is the hardest time to cure it. If you should take a cold, a few doses of Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup will act very promptly. Its laxative principle cures the cold by driving it from the system by a gentle but natural action of the bowels. Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup as it tastes so good, nearly like maple sugar. It sold by all Dealers. 40 3m

Johnny was singing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." When he came to the line "Land of the pilgrim's pride," he sang, "Land where the pilgrims cried." "Mamma corrected him," said, "I thought it was 'I thought she cried because her father died.'"—The Delineator for June.

BRAINY PLAYERS
HELP WIN GAMES

MANAGERS AND CAPTAINS BY NO MEANS MONOPOLIZE TACTICAL SIDE OF BASEBALL

PENNANT TURNED BY EVERS

Quick Thinking of World's Champion Second Baseman Won Game Once Lost—Doolin of Philadelphia a Prominent Factor in Games Won by Covaleskie from New York.

A competent lieutenant often contributes as much to the success of a baseball team as the manager or captain, particularly if the former also acts in the capacity of field leader. This relates not to mere playing ability, but the tactical side of the game, the little opportunities that come up at a minute's notice and are overlooked by the average player, but taken full advantage of by the brainy type of man.

Johnny Evers is something more than the second baseman of the world's champion Chicago Nationals. He is a great help to Manager Chance, because he needs little or no advice from his superior in a game, and is constantly taking the initiative and accomplishing things that no manager would have the time or opportunity to order.

The difference between Evers and the class of players who won't try anything except when ordered by the manager is that the Cub infielder has baseball sense.

It was Evers who discovered Fred Merkle's fatal selection in the celebrated game in New York last fall, in a game that looked irretrievably lost, Evers, with no-trigger thinking, noticed that Merkle, who should have run to second base turned aside and balled for the clubhouse because a man on third had crossed the plate.

The same thing is done frequently, but Evers knew that it transgressed the rules and appealed to the umpire, who saw the justice of his claim. The National league directors, at a special meeting, supported this contention, with the result that the game was thrown out of the records and ordered replayed. In the extra game the Cubs took the opportunity of winning a pennant that was seemingly gone.

It gives one instance where a quick-witted man won a pennant for his team simply because he was a well-grounded baseball student.

Much of Billy Sullivan's light was hidden under Fielder Jones' bushel. The great catcher of the White Sox has a profound knowledge of the game, and this has helped his team in many games, although is some quarters Sullivan is regarded only as a good-mechanical catcher, while the tactical side of his ability is overlooked.

Charles Doolin the Phillies' great backstop, who, like Billy Sullivan, is something more than a first class catcher, is not the manager or the captain of the Phillies, but nevertheless is in the thick of every fight with his advice and suggestions.

Undoubtedly Left-hander Covaleskie's wonderful feat in defeating New York three games in five days last fall was due to the brainy coaching of Doolin, who knew the weaknesses of the Giant batsmen.

On the second day of this torrid series at the Polo grounds a double-header had been scheduled in the middle of the first game Doolin was spiked and limped off the field. When he reached the clubhouse he found the Giants' physician on the job full of sympathy.

"Let me look you over," said the Good Samaritan. Doolin's stocking was peeled off and the Polo grounds physician uttered an exclamation: "Sonny, you'll not use that leg any more this season."

Then he took out a long roll of cotton and tightly bandaged Doolin's leg. In fact, it was bound so tightly that Doolin could scarcely walk. The catcher saw through this artifice, and when the physician left the clubhouse he quickly unwound the stuff and cast it aside. Then he used a few ball players' remedies and soon the leg was all right.

When it was time for the second game to start, the club physician was supposed to see Doolin walk on the field with his mask in hand. And he didn't limp, either. In this game Covaleskie beat the Giants, due to Doolin's catch at shortstop in the eighth.

the scheme of the Giants' physician.

Persons who have been stirred by Dan Murphy's lightning fielding, or applauded one of his long hits, do not know that the Athletics' veteran star is a constant whipper-up on the infield.

Murphy works like a machine with the catcher and shortstop, and many an opponent's batting rally is smeared up by his quickness of intellect in baffling base runners.

Another live wire is Germany Schaefer of the champion Detroit. Many persons who have been entertained by the antics of a baseball clown do not realize that he is the master of baseball, that he is Schaefer is funny, but never to the point of impairing the success of the team.

In fact, Schaefer's capers have often put opposing players off their guard, and he has got through with plays that he could not do otherwise.

Other big league captains are not mentioned because it is obvious that they should be good tactical leaders. This story relates only to the private side of the game.
